CONDITIONS

The hours and services included in the annual contracts are not transferable by default, ensuring optimal utilization of the agreed services. Unless an individual agreement is made to enable flexible use or transferability of hours based on specific project requirements or special circumstances. Additionally, there is the possibility to tailor half-yearly contracts through a customized special agreement to more precisely meet your needs. This ensures adaptability of contract terms according to your project requirements or temporal constraints.

Please note that creative services exceeding the standard services of an annual contract will be billed separately. These special creative works, based on individual customer preferences or additional requirements, constitute a separate service and will be charged separately based on effort and complexity. These additional creative services allow tailored adaptation to specific project requirements and ensure maximum flexibility and quality in implementing your creative visions within the annual contract.

Please note that changes to agreed-upon conditions, services, or prices are subject to reservation. While we endeavor to present all information correctly and accurately, we cannot be held liable for any printing errors or unintended mistakes. We reserve the right to correct such errors and make changes to ensure that our services are always up-to-date and precisely tailored to your needs. Thank you for your understanding, and we are available for any queries.
